What's Your Diamond Ring Style?

Style Notes

"Brides choose their wedding rings according to their own personal style, such as a traditional 3 stone ring for the classic bride, a modern, sleek design for the contemporary bride, and an intricate, glamorous band for the bride who is all about making a statement." – Rachel Clementi, Director of Publicity, Hearts on Fire (www.heartsonfire.com)

Here is your style-defining chart so that you can use your own engagement ring to help define your style for your wedding bands. You might think that you're city-chic – and you may be in your fashion sense – but the engagement ring you chose says 'romantic.' You can then use this insight into your own jewelry style to pick your wedding ring.

Classic	Three Stone Ring		For the bride who is a timeless beauty – A traditional 3 stone ring that will never go out of style and can be passed down from generation to generation.
Romantic	Repertoire Ring		For the bride who is understated yet extremely passionate-A delicate and charming ring with small diamonds showcasing a beautiful Hearts On Fire diamond.

City Chic	Perfection in Platinum: Timeless		Sleek, contemporary design with a lot of movement. Perfect for the jet-setting, modern bride
Extravagant	Perfection in Platinum: Distinction		For the glamorous bride who is all about making a statement. This ring is a showstopper- holding a 2+ carat Hearts On Fire Dream diamond- a special cut square diamond that is cut to sparkle like a round, for a big, bold, unique look.
Natural/Organic	Purely Twist Solitaire		For the bride who likes to be au-natural, look for band designs that were inspired by nature. These bands were inspired by water- with a fluid, sleek design in which the diamonds float. Diamonds are a natural substance from the Earth- made purely of carbon.
